ORVILLE WRIGHT

Travels Seventy Miles in His Machine at Fort Myer.

Near Washington on July 21, establishing a new record for aviation in America, Orville Wright, in the Wright aeroplane, at Fort Myer made a spectacular flight of one hour, twenty minutes and forty-five seconds.

During the entire flight the machine was under perfect control. The machine traveled about seventy miles, and the height attained, between 200 and 280 feet, exceeded the highest point ever reached by a heavier-than-air machine on this continent.

The most wonderful part of the flight was the execution of three complete "figure eights." After rounding the course a half a hundred times, the aviator directed the machine's course around the small double-circles of a "figure eight."

Secretary of the Navy, Attorney General and Postmaster General were among the many officials who witnessed the flight. After traveling several hundred feet at a height of only about five feet, the aeroplane arose gradually to a height of seventy-five feet before making the first turn.

The aviator sent the machine up on each turn to a height of about 150 feet, which was maintained until toward the end of the flight.

Try These On Your Tongue.

A London paper recently offered a series of prizes for the best "tongue twisting" sentences. The prize-winning contributions are:

The black breeze blighted the bright broom blossoms.

Two toads totally tried to trot to Teabury.

Strict, strong Stephen Stringer snared slyly six sickly silky snakes.

Susan shineth shoes and socks; socks and shoes shines Susan. She ceaseeth shining shoes and socks for shoes and socks shoe Susan.

Meaning of an Inch of Rainfall.

An acre is 6,272,640 square inches. An inch of water on an acre is, therefore 6,272,640 cubic inches. That amount at 27.2 cubic inches to the gallon, equals 229,000 gallons or 230,000 pounds or 100 tons. An inch of rain is, in other words, rain falling at the rate of 100 tons to the acre. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

An Embargo on the Souls of Men.

A Presbyterian pastor of Washington, D. C., Rev. Donald C. MacLeod, invited the members of the Central Labor Union to attend the Sunday evening services in his church. When the invitation was read at a meeting of the union, the secretary of that organization made the following declaration:—

I believe in consistency. If the ministers of this town want union men to be numbered among their auditors, they should do something to show them that they appreciate union principles. The minister in question, to my own personal knowledge, patronizes a non-union barber shop. In the future let him go to a barber shop in whose windows are displayed union cards.

The President of the labor organization then appointed the Secretary a committee of one to call upon the minister and ask that in the future he patronize only union barbers. If this demand were considered legitimate and were yielded to, it would open the way for another, to the effect that if the union is to accept the invitation of the pastor, no similar invitation should ever be extended non-union barbers. This attempt to use the services of the house of God as a weapon for the accomplishment of secular designs is an inexcusable sacrilege. No minister of the gospel of Christ has ever been given divine authority for distinguishing between classes of men, or for advancing the interests of another. No human power has a right to place an embargo on the souls of men that they may thereby enhance their own temporal interests and purposes. The individual who could declare, I will not attend your church if you do not patronize my shop exclusively, sees nothing involved but an exchange of commodities. The gospel of Jesus Christ, the good news of the everlasting kingdom, cannot be given to the world upon such a materialistic basis. The question as to whether an individual will forsake sin, surrender to Jesus Christ, accept and receive eternal life, is entirely separated from any consideration of barter and sale, material exchanges, or membership in any human organization whatsoever. —C. M. S., in Liberty.

AN IDEAL CHOICE

Is Tatt's Selection For American Minister To China.

Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, the noted elevator manufacturer, who has been chosen by President Taft to represent the United States as minister to China, succeeding W. W. Rockhill, taken from China to be ambassador to Russia, was born in Chicago and is fifty-one years old.

Mr. Crane is one of the greatest travelers in this country. He has set foot in nearly every country on the globe, and is as much at home in Russia or China as he is on Michigan boulevard in Chicago. He is a linguist of considerable attainments, is a connoisseur in paintings, a collector of old and rare books, and a reader of the same. He is prominent as a civic enthusiast, and for years has been a powerful factor in movements for the advancement of Chicago, commercially, physically and morally.

He was educated in the public schools of Chicago, and after he graduated he donned overalls and jacket and entered the employ of the company of which his father was head. He learned the business from the bottom to the top, and after serving in various capacities from the lathe to the book-keeper's stool he became first Vice President of the concern in 1894, and took charge of the foreign business of the company. In assuming control of its foreign affairs Mr. Crane started his career as a traveler.

During his spare moments, Mr. Crane had found time for extensive study, and by the time most young men are leaving college with a smattering knowledge of a long list of subjects he had assimilated two foreign languages and could speak them like a native. Early in the course of his business affairs he went to Russia. He went into all the provinces. He met officials and peasants and made a close study of life.

When not in Chicago or Russia, Mr. Crane was ranging the globe elsewhere. He formed a passion for paintings, and started to make a collection, which today is one of the best in Chicago.

During his travels Mr. Crane spent much time in China, his business interests taking him into every province. He came into close contact with all classes of Mongolians.

In his library are books written in a dozen different languages. When he wants to look up a topic he takes down books in several different languages and reads them without the aid of a lexicon. He is said to read twelve languages and to speak with ease and fluency six or eight.

Poultry Notes.

The male is half the pen—it pays to get the best you can buy.

Poultry is one of the best paying things on the farm when properly cared for, and brings in something every month of the year.

A uniform flock of one kind of fowls is more satisfactory in appearance, more easily handled, and gives more uniform results and a considerable greater profit than a mixed lot of different kinds.

There is no excuse for neglecting the poultry for a single day. Eggs will be eggs as long as the world lasts, and there is good money in them year in and year out.

Judge Lindsey's Decision on the Cigarette.

There is probably no public man in the country who has made a more exhaustive study of the causes that lead to the downfall of boys than has Judge Ben. B. Lindsey, the judge of the juvenile court of Colorado. In an article written for the Sunday School Times, Philadelphia, Pa., he has this to say regarding one of those causes:—

"I have been in the juvenile court nearly ten years, and in that time I have had to deal with thousands and thousands of boys who have disgraced themselves and their parents, and who have brought sorrow and misery into their lives; and I do not know of any one habit that is more responsible for the troubles of these boys than the vile cigarette habit."

We are not to argue from this that it is generally only the naturally vicious that take up the use of the cigarette. But the continued inhalation of the poison of the cigarette has a dulling or deadening influence upon the moral sensibilities of the user; and after becoming addicted to the habit, he will do things that he would not think of doing before. To the increasing indulgence in the use of the cigarette we must attribute, to a very large extent, the great increase in crime among the youth of this and other countries.—Liberty.

Arrested For Chopping Wood on Sunday.

We have been informed that a Seventh-day Adventist in Tennessee has been arrested for chopping some wood in his own dooryard on a recent Sunday. The wood was to be used in preparing dinner for his family. The case was tried before a justice of the peace, and was decided against the arrested man. From that decision the defendant has taken an appeal. The appeal will be tried in July, and as we shall have a representative at the trial, a report of the matter will appear in our next issue. The evidence in this case, as in all others where Seventh-day observers have been arrested for working on Sunday, shows that the arrest was occasioned not by the fact that work was done on Sunday but because it was done by one whose conduct in the matter was governed by divine example and authority.—Liberty.

Woman May Go To Congress.

The women of Colorado are to make a stubborn effort to send one of their sex to Congress two years hence. Such was the announcement made to the delegates from the International Council of Women by one who spoke for the women's associations in the State.

"Of course, it is difficult to tell whether we will be successful in our efforts or not," said Mrs. Harriet Wright, former member of the State Legislature, but we are looking forward to landing a woman in the halls of Congress, and we are certainly going to make a determined trial."

HAZELRIGG & SON

TAKEN TO ATLANTA JAIL

Are Simpson, Stanley and Slavin, Leaders in Riots at Stearns.

Deputy United States Marshal Wm. Mays, accompanied by Deputy Jailor John Edwards and Commissioner W. C. Barnett, of Richmond, left July 19 for Atlanta, Ga., having in custody Berry Simpson, Elisha and Oliver Slavin, George Stanley and Jesse Simpson, convicted at the recent special term of Federal Court on the charge of conspiracy and murder, which it is alleged was caused in a fight between miners and United States Marshals at Stearns on Christmas day, when Deputy Marshal John Mullins and a miner by the name of Ross were killed. In addition to their life sentences on the murder and conspiracy charge, Berry Simpson, Geo. Stanley and Elisha Slavin were each given ten years on the charge of disobeying a court injunction.

Jesse Simpson and Oliver Slavin were found not guilty on the murder charge, but were found guilty of disobeying the injunction and given three and five years respectively.

Sentences were passed upon the men at noon by Judge Cochran, at which time a pathetic scene was experienced when they together with their wives and children made sympathetic appeals to Judge Cochran for the commutation of their sentences.

A motion for a new trial was overruled by the Court, but sixty days was granted them for the purpose of appealing if they cared so to do.

Stickers Used to Boost Lexington

The Commercial Club of Lexington has received 100,000 gum labels which will be used in the campaign boosting Lexington. These labels are very handsome and are embossed and printed in three colors. One set in red and gold, another set in black and gold and the third gold entirely. The labels are about the size of a silver dollar and across the center in large type are the words "Lexington, Ky." above and below in a semi-circular effect is the inscription, "The Blue Grass Capital." It is the purpose to get the members of the Club to paste these stickers on the letters and other correspondence sent out.

Value of Barnyard Manure.

Harry Snyder gives the following valuations of barnyard manure based on chemical analysis: If applied to a worn out soil at the rate of eight tons per acre, the increase in corn the first year will be twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre. This would be worth $7. The next year the land will produce six bushels more wheat, worth say $4.50. If spread to clover it would yield at least a ton more of hay, worth $5. Following the clover with wheat again, a gain of eight bushels per acre, worth $7, will follow. There will come twelve to fifteen bushels more oats, worth $3. The increase in the five crops, due to the dressing of eight tons of farm manure and the production of clover, is alone worth $25, making the value of the manure $3 per ton distributed over five years.—Farmers' Home Journal.

The largest friction saws in the world are used in one of Chicago's huge construction plants. They cut through a ten-inch steel beam in fourteen seconds. These saws or discs are so made that they generate enough heat at the point of contact to literally melt their way through the metal being cut. The cutting edge of the disc is roughened by simply hacking with a fish-tail chisel.

LOUISVILLE BARBECUE.

Recently much has been said in the daily press about the great Democratic barbecue in Louisville, which is to open the campaign, and about the thousands of Democrats out in the State who are enthusiastic over the Louisville ticket and are anxious to join hands with the Democrats of Louisville to redeem both the city of Louisville and Kentucky from Republican rule. The thought is expressed that if Louisville is first carried by Democrats then the State ticket is sure of success.

The object of chief concern should be: Not to redeem Louisville from Republican rule, but to save Louisville and Kentucky from the disgrace and humiliation which attended Democratic methods in Louisville prior to and in 1905. If Democrats will do this there is hope for the party in Louisville.

We are interested in the welfare of Kentucky, and we know that, as long as tactics similar to those used in Louisville some years ago are resorted to by either Democrats or Republicans in any city or State, there should be an untiring effort to prevent ance before that party can have the cheerful support of many former adherents.

At the time these exposures were made and the elected Democrats deposed, we stated in print, that if we had been a resident of Louisville we would have voted the Republican ticket at the next election. Such a declaration by a Republican or a Democrat concerning his party may be regarded by party leaders as unwise, and traitorous; but party leaders must recognize that, if their organization in any city is honeycombed (excuse use of so sweet a word in such connection) by force, fraud, dishonesty, immoral practices, etc., there is danger ahead.

No government or political party or individual can hope to succeed and be worthy of public confidence, respect and support so long as such practices are in vogue. A mere existence is possible; but what individual or political organization wants the finger of scorn pointed at him with the dominant thought, expressed or implied, there is a thief, a moral profligate, a violator of every political right?

For the present, excuse us for not going into hysterics over LOUISVILLE DEMOCRACY. If Democratic candidates and nominees are clean men, if Democratic methods are possibly respectable, as good as the other side, our preference is with them. Possibly we will have to be made over before we can sanction through the columns of our paper or by our voice the infamies of the Louisville contingents before they were turned down. Of course, with some claim of renovation public approval is again sought. We do not mean to criticize every candidate in Louisville.

THE INVADER OF HOME.

In another column is an article: "He Went But Never Came Away." Judging from what we have heard about social conditions (in spots) in Montgomery county and Mt. Sterling for a few years past we think there has been need of an object lesson in the final outworking of sin so far as this life is concerned.

The man, who by his blandishments, favors, persuasions, promises, etc., invades the sanctity of another man's home and despoils it of the mutual confidence, love and virtue which should exist between husband and wife, however humble that home is, is a criminal, an enemy of God and man, and deserves neither social standing or business prestige. Next to a man's relation individually to his God there is no tie more sacred, no relation more enduring than that of the home, where husband and wife should each strive to make it ideal.

The invader of a home who thus destroys it is a reprobate, and the world loses but little when he is gone.

Innocence may tremble in his presence. The curtain has dropped on the life of this man. Its tragic ending, while it may have revealed to the immediate neighborhood no secret, gives greater publicity to infamy and verifies the statement that the wages of sin is death.

Mr. J. P. Morgan, returning from Europe, says: "Finances in England and everywhere are good. The future looks well here and abroad. We are having a prosperous year. There is no sign of weakness in any way."

Tobacco Meeting.

The announcement that Judge Ed C. O'Rear would speak at the Court House on last Saturday on some phase of the tobacco question drew many town and country people to hear him. He failed to come, but in his place were Mr. Clarence Lebus, and Miss Alice Lloyd, who have been prominent in perfecting the plans of the Burley organization and effecting a sale of the pooled crops. We did not hear Miss Lloyd and only a part of Mr. Lebus's speech. He was greeted with applause as he considered various phases of the work done and yet to be done by the organization. He is a competent, captivating and tireless worker. Mr. J. A. Bohannon, a banker, many years ago of our city, was also present to aid in the work.

HE WENT

But Never Came Away--NO Sham Goes Here.

On Thursday morning W. H. Wyatt, aged possibly 68 years, who lives in Howard's Mill neighborhood, went to the home of Simon Hedges in Bath county. He never came away. From about 8 to 11 o'clock he lay dead on the floor of Mrs. Hedges' bedroom with the contents of a shot gun through his heart, fired by the husband of Mrs. Hedges.

We do not care to give rumors, and as we have not heard of Hedges' trial after promptly surrendering, we will only say that judging from what we have heard of facts and appearances, and what we know of the sacredness and inviolability of a home, if ever a man deserved killing, he got his due. The burial was on Saturday. See editorial.

WIDOW WHILE YET A CHILD

Marriage Customs of China That Seem Peculiar to the Minds of Westerners.

Mrs. Miriam Sinclair Headland, M. D., writing in the Circle Magazine of her experience as a physician among the court ladies of China, relates this interesting incident:

"How many sisters are there in your family—eight, are there not?" Mrs. Headland once asked an older sister of the household.

"Yes. You know, of course, that No. 5 was engaged when a child of six to the son of Li Hung Chang."

"No, I was not aware of the fact; and were they married?"

"No, they were never married. The young man died before they were old enough to wed. When word of his death was brought to her, child that she was, she went to her mother and told her she must never engage her to anyone else, as she was now to live and die the widow of this boy."

"And did she go to Li Hung Chang's home?"

"No, the old viceroys wanted to take her to his home, build a suite of rooms for her and treat her as his daughter-in-law, but our parents objected because she was so young. The viceroys loved her very much, and his eyes often filled with tears as he spoke of her and the son who had passed away. When the viceroys died she wanted to go and know to at his funeral, and all his family except the eldest son were anxious to have her do so, and thus be recognized as one of the family. But this son objected, and though Lady Li knocked her head on the ceiling until it bled he would not yield, lest she might want her portion."

"And what has become of your sister?"

"She withdrew to a small court, where she has lived with her women servants."

"And what does she do?" I asked.

"How does she employ herself?"

"Studying, reading, painting and embroidery. When young Li refused to allow her to attend his father's funeral her sense of self-respect was outraged and she cut off her hair and threatened to commit suicide. She often fasts for a week and has tried on several occasions to take her own life."

I asked them if they did not fear that she might kill herself.

"Yes, we have constant apprehensions, but, then, what if she did? It would only emphasize her virtue."

Asleep Up to Date.

A hare one day ridiculed the short foot and slow pace of the tortoise. The latter, laughing, said: "Though you may be swift as the wind, I will beat you in a race."

The hare, seeing that the tortoise was so confident, seemed prepossessed on the face of it of doing some lightning thinking. He then assented to the proposal. They agreed that the hare should choose the course and fix the goal. On the day appointed for the race they started off together.

The tortoise moved for a moment stopped, but went on with a slow but steady pace straight to the end of the course. The hare, however, as soon as he had bounded out of sight of the start, hid in a clump of bushes and took a nap. Waking up in time to make a grandstand dash he dashed for the goal, arriving there just one second after the tortoise. "I was out of condition," he panted. But that night, when his agents returned to him with the windmills of the hare had made on the tortoise, he had a quiet chuckle all by himself.

Moral: The race is not always to the swift, but the calm always is.

Crows Worm Tobacco.

James Hargard, of the Allansville neighbor, has noticed a flock of crows in his tobacco patch several times lately.

Careful investigation, for several days showed that the crows were warning his tobacco and keeping the plants more free from the pests than two or three larks could do. Mr. Hargard is devoting his time to his other crops and letting the crows have complete charge of his patch. Winchester Democrat.

DEATHS

WARREN.—Mrs. Katherine Warren, of Louisville, daughter of the late Chas. Bronston, of Lexington, died in Chicago on Monday.

MANIX.—On Wednesday morning, July 21, 1909, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mannix, in this city, Henry Stanley Mannix died with typhoid fever. He was born June 28, 1891, hence had recently passed his 18th birthday. The funeral service was held at St. Patrick's church Friday morning and the burial was in St. Thomas. Many friends sympathize with the family in the death of this fine and popular young man. He is survived by his parents and a sister.

JOHNSON.—Miss Anna Magowan Johnson, daughter of John T. Johnson and wife, died on Thursday, July 15, 1909, with typhoid fever at their home in Aarons Run precinct. She was born on April 20, 1893, hence was in her 17th year. She was an obedient and lovely daughter and friend. Her death brought sorrow to a large circle of kindred and acquaintances. She was a member of the Somerset Christian church, devoted to the services of the Lord's house. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. D. Clark at Somerset on Saturday, and the burial was in this city. Her parents, a brother and two sisters survive her.

ANDERSON.—Mrs. English Anderson, died at their home in this county near Sideview, on Wednesday morning, July 21, 1909. For some years she had been an invalid, and hoping to be relieved of tuberculosis had spent some winters at Asheville, N. C. The end came quietly and while she was yet young, being about 35 years old. Before marriage she was Miss Cora McDaniel, daughter of Judson McDaniel, deceased, and was a native of this county. Many neighbors and friends to whom she was devoted and to whom she had shown kindness will greatly miss the influence of her christian spirit. She was a member of the Christian church. The funeral service was held at the home on Thursday afternoon by Rev. Buffington, of North Middletown, and the body rests in the family burying ground. She is survived by her husband and four little children, three sons and a daughter.

COONS.—Joe M. Coons, son of Elijah Coons, on Spencer, died at Asheville, N. C., on Monday morning, July 26, 1909. On June 30, 1908, aged 27 years, he was united in marriage to Miss Grace Ogg, daughter of Mrs. Lucy B. Ogg, of this city. An elegant new home had been erected and occupied and it seemed that these young people were beginning life under favorable circumstances. Their joy was of short duration. He fell a victim to general tuberculosis. On June 28, 4 weeks ago, he and his wife went to Asheville hoping to be relieved. On last Wednesday a message announced his rapid decline. His father and Miss Maude Ogg, sister of Mrs. Coons, left at once for Lexington in an auto to catch the late train for the South. On Friday Mr. Clarence Ogg left to be with them. No encouraging word came. The body arrived in this city on Tuesday morning at 9:18 o'clock. The funeral will be held at the home on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock by Revs. Clark and Weber, and the burial was in Macphelah. He was an elegant, high-toned young man, and an enterprising farmer. A large circle of kindred and friends, both of Mr. and Mrs. Coons, will regret that one so favored to live should be called hence so early in life. Within 84 years his mother, sister and brother have died. The father is desolate and has the sympathy of many friends.

One Thing Money CANNOT Do--Buy a Better Kitchen Cabinet Than the McDougall

YOU can get a kitchen cabinet made of cheap material, carelessly thrown together—"made to sell."

Looks pretty good when you buy it. After a while the defects of its design show up, the wood warps, the joints open, the drawers won't work, the roaches gather, and the cabinet, instead of being a help, becomes a burden. But with the

it's entirely different. It is made of carefully selected, thoroughly seasoned wood, so that it will endure the varying temperatures of the kitchen and last a lifetime. Constructed and fitted together with accurate care, so that everything fits snugly, yet works easily. Durable, fireproof. Pays for itself in the supplies it saves. Guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every way. Besides the McDougall costs little or no more than the "made-to-sell kind."

The First Encyclopedia.

The honor of first bringing a dictionary of general knowledge into alphabetical order belongs to Ephraim Chambers, an English Quaker, whose taste for literature was acquired in a globemaker's studio; he stole the time belonging to his master to compose behind the shop counter the encyclopedia published in 1727.—American Review of Reviews.

A Child's Comment.

Even little children are amazed at the backwardness of New York. A bright youngster of five, crossing over from New Jersey and seeing the West street transportation rolls for the first time, jerked her father's coat-lap nearly off, exclaiming: "Oh, papa, see the trolley cars being pulled by horses!"—N. Y. Press.

Barbarous English Custom.

Boys in the west of England believe that by squeezing a mole to death between the hands and touching the affected parts with the blood that comes from the mouth of the dying animal warts will disappear and will not reappear. The culprits are convinced that moles, worms and other subterranean dwellers have no feelings, and, therefore, it is not cruelty to put them to death in this way.
